IMPORTANT NOTICE
BEWARE OF FRAUDULENT INVESTMENT OFFERS

July 19, 2024 – VanEck

We have recently become aware of a fraudulent “investment offer” to investors in France. A group of individuals is falsely using the name, brand, and address of VanEck Europe to deceive unsuspecting investors.

Here are the key points you should be aware of:

Investment Service: The fraudster is promoting an investment service through direct email advertisements. They claim that this service can help investors get rich quickly, promising substantial profits within a short period.

False Endorsements: The scheme uses the names and websites of VanEck Europe to lend credibility. However, these endorsements are entirely fabricated.

Suspicious Payment Platform: Interested investors are contacted by a supposed financial adviser who encourages them to register on an unknown payment platform. The investments offered might also include the request to transfer money into crypto-assets like Bitcoin.

How to Protect Yourself:

VanEck does not contact investors directly and does never request any payments from investors. Do not transfer any money for investment purposes to VanEck directly.

Be cautious of unrealistic promises from offers by Email that guarantee quick profits.

Avoid unregulated payment platforms or solutions you do not know.

Please exercise due diligence and report any suspicious activity related to our company to EMEAinfo@vaneck.com. We are committed to protecting our clients and maintaining the integrity of our brand.
